Coffee County Sheriff's deputies and Holman Prison guards escort Billy Joe Magwood from the Coffee County Courthouse in Elba to the prison van following Saturday's appeal hearing.

Judge Denies Stay Of Execution For Magwood

Circuit Judge Riley Green wasted no time in acting on Billy Joe Magwood's request for a stay of execution, as on Monday, July 18, the judge issued a written judgment denying the request. At Saturday's hearing Judge Green had stated he would rule on the request on Tuesday of this week; however, the urgency of the ruling apparently led to the early announcement.

In a three-page ruling written by Judge Green, the judge acted on all defense measures brought up at the hearing.

In the ruling, Judge Green stated "Grounds for writ of error contained in the amended petition... are not proper issues. They are without merit."

Concerning the question of being represented by ineffective counsel, the judge stated "Mr. Joe C. Cassidy and Mr. Jackson W. Stokes, with their 30 or more years of experience in the trial felony criminal cases, represented Magwood with diligence and professional ability. It is almost ludicrous to assert that because Magwood is black, the attorneys were inept, inadequate or otherwise faulty in their task of providing a defense for Magwood."

Continuing, the order stated "The contention the attorneys were ineffective because of a denial of the change-of-venue motion is likewise erroneous... The evidence and testimony of witnesses did not show Magwood could not receive an impartial trial... The people of the Elba Division are objective and fair."

On the matter of Magwood's sanity, Green stated, "Magwood's attempt to invoke Section 15-16-23 and obtain a stay of execution of the sentence of death is without merit. The totality of the evidence conclusively shows he is not presently insane. He appears sane, competent and capable of assisting counsel in matters pertaining to the writ of error, sentence or otherwise."

Magwood Returns To Elba As Execution Date Nears

Convicted murderer Billy Joe Magwood, facing a July 22 execution date, returned to the Elba courthouse on Saturday, July 16, as attorneys met with Judge Riley Green in an attempt to receive a "stay of execution" for their client.

Magwood, sentenced to die for the 1979 shooting death of Coffee County Sheriff Neil Grantham, sat calmly in a wooden chair during the nine-hour hearing, showing no facial expression as witnesses discussed his sanity.

The hearing began at 10 a.m. with a large group of attorneys, a handful of Magwood's friends and relatives and the late Sheriff Grantham's two daughters present in the audience.

Mr. J.L. Chestnut Jr., a Selma attorney representing Magwood, stated he was seeking to have his client proved insane, which would result in a delay of the planned execution, and also sought to prove his client had insufficient legal counsel at the original trial.

Dr. William H. Rudder, a Mobile psychiatrist who serves as a consultant at Searcy State Hospital, was the hearing's first witness and stated Magwood was "one of the few people I am frightened of."

Dr. Rudder, who evaluated the defendant during a 10-month period at Searcy, reported at his original diagnosis on August 14, 1979, he felt Magwood was "insane and incompetent," but a second diagnosis on April 1, 1980, had changed his mind and found the defendant "mentally competent to stand trial." He added that Magwood's condition improved as the level of medication was increased and said Magwood told him his execution "would release me from a lot of trouble."

While meeting with the defendant in private prior to Saturday's hearing, Dr. Rudder found Magwood competent, but stated when Magwood told him he was off medication he became frightened and opened a door to the room.

A second psychiatrist, Dr. Benjamin Blessingfield of Montgomery, reported he visited Magwood at Holman Prison on Friday, July 15, for one hour and fifty minutes and concluded the defendant was a "paranoid schizophrenic, an illness that would equate to insanity."

Dr. Blessingfield reported at times Magwood's memory was excellent, while at other times it was not. The doctor stated the condition was "not being faked," and said the defendant was in essence, insane.

Magwood's mother, brother and two cousins took the stand and all stated the defendant "was acting strange" prior to the shooting, while the mother said flatly her son "is crazy!"

Turning toward the claim that Magwood wasn't properly defended, Chestnut called the original attorneys (Joe C. Cassidy and Bill Stokes) to the stand.

Cassidy was questioned concerning the publicity of the case and his friendship to Grantham, as well as the racial makeup of the jury, and the Enterprise attorney stated his motion for a change of venue was denied by the court, added he had known the late sheriff for 25 years and said he was satisfied with the selection of the jury.

In summing up an answer to the barrage of questions, Cassidy said, "I did the best I could and would do nothing different if I handled the case today."

The hearing resumed following a 30-minute recess, with the prosecution calling its witnesses.

Judge Eris Paul was called to answer the questions concerning the quality of Magwood's original attorneys and Judge Paul stated both Cassidy and Stokes were "good lawyers."

The line of cross-examination quickly returned to the matter of Magwood's sanity, with a number of Holman Prison authorities being called to testify.

Mr. Ron Jones, the assistant warden, stated he had known Magwood as a prisoner for two years and had seen him at least once a week. He reported Magwood had never exhibited "strange or bizarre behavior" and said in his opinion the defendant was "sane."

Earl Self, a Board of Corrections Officer, stated he had seen Magwood almost daily as the supervisor of the Death Row section, and never witnessed any "unusual behavior" by the defendant.

Robert Skipper, a corrections officer at Holman, stated he had known Magwood since June, 1981, and said Magwood "was able to communicate" and was, in his opinion "sane."

Dorothy Daugherty, a registered nurse and the custodian of medical records at Holman, brought Magwood's medical record and stated the defendant was not listed as being psychotic. She reported the only medication Magwood received was sedatives, antibiotics and weak pain-killers, and also stated that to her the defendant appeared to be "sane."

Jim Corbitt, a psychologist at Holman Prison, reported he had evaluated Magwood's psychological data, and visited him last week, and found him to be "relatively normal."

He said Magwood had never shown any unusual behavior at Holman.

The final witness was Dr. Blaine Crum, a clinical psychologist from Mobile, who reported he had given Magwood a two-hour evaluation and testing on Friday, July 15, and concluded the defendant "is capable of rational thinking" and "is sane."

Judge Riley Green told the gathering "We all know what issue we are facing," and stated he would release a ruling by Tuesday, July 19.

Robbers Hit Kinston Bank

At approximately 3:40 p.m. Tuesday, July 19, an armed robbery occurred at the Coffee County Bank, located in Kinston.

According to bank officials, three white males, wearing masks to conceal their identity, entered the bank and the bank tellers were forced at gunpoint to give the robbers the bank's cash. The men escaped in a late model automobile and bank officials immediately notified the Kinston Police Department.

The amount of cash taken was undisclosed, and no bank employees were injured in the holdup. The bank opened on Wednesday usual, and was conducting routine business.

A police spokesman stated the robbers left town on County Road 6 (toward Florala) and a Kinston patrolman attempted to trace the path in a patrol car; however, the Kinston and Florala police met on the road, leading authorities to believe the getaway vehicle turned off on a dirt road. A complete search of side roads along the county road turned up no clues.

An airplane was added in the search of the rural area Wednesday, joining the FBI and a host of area law enforcement officials.

Renovation Completed On County Jail

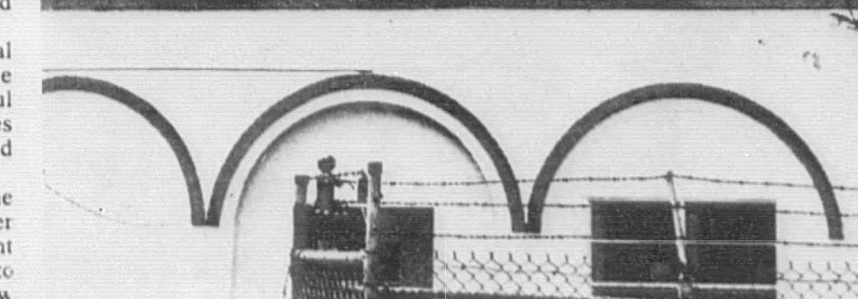

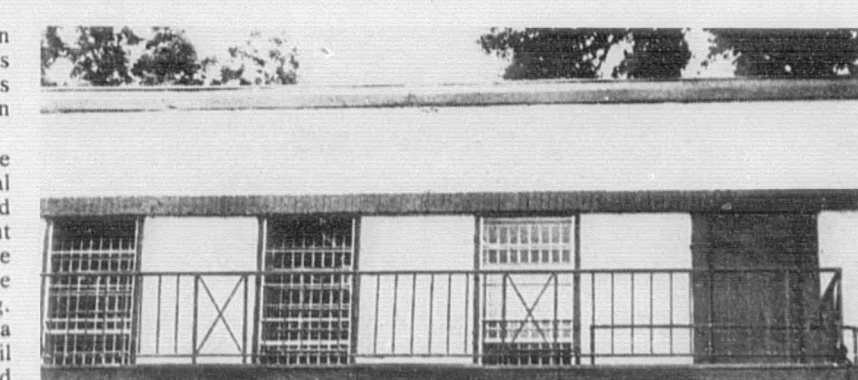

The Coffee County Jail was on public display on Friday, July 15, as Sheriff Brice Paul showed off the results of a recently completed renovation project.

The project took approximately one week to complete, including a total repainting of the jail (both inside and out), the installation of new light fixtures, outside the catwalk around the upstairs cells, a reworking of all smoke alarms and a general scrubbing.

Working on the project were 10 Elba Work Release inmates, 13 county jail trustees, two Kilby Prison inmates and nine Board of Corrections employees.

It was necessary to move many local inmates out of the jail during the interior renovation, and Sheriff Paul reported he "loaned out" four inmates to Pike County, five to Dale County and four to Covington County.

The renovation program was the brainchild of State Prison Commissioner Freddie V. Smith, who stated, "I sent letters to all the sheriffs in the state to explain the program, and we have now worked in seven counties across the state. In Lawrence County it was estimated it would cost $85,000 to repair the jail, but under the state program we spent $3000, and used inmate labor. Here in Coffee County it was estimated it would cost in excess of $50,000 to do the repairs, while the actual cost was only $2500."

"This is what happens when Alabama's inmates work together," added Smith. "Our first priority was to get the state inmates out of county jails; we've done that. Next was to go back and clean up the jails, and finally to offer free training to the sheriff's employees, either at the academy or at good."

A special visitor at the jail Friday was retired Sheriff H.D. Tillman, who lived in the jail 25 years. He reported the old building "still looks mighty good."

the county jails. We're all in the same ship and glad to work together."

Brainstorms

By FERRIN COX

There is an article in the current issue of Florida Wildlife, the official publication of that state's conservation department, complete with pictures of a white rattlesnake. The snake is owned by wildlife lecturer and photographer Bill Love of LaBelle, Florida, and sports 15 rattles. It is interesting reading in an interesting magazine. We are not in the market for a white rattlesnake - or in fact any snake of any color - but did enjoy reading about this rattler named "Snowflake."

At the time this was being written it was still "go" on the Thursday midnight execution of Billy Joe Magwood, convicted for the shooting death of Sheriff Neil Grantham. We discount the claim of insanity as his defense, and so have the courts... many times. First, we consider anyone a bit crazy that shoots another human being, but this doesn't mean the man didn't know the difference in right and wrong. We know Magwood, know his moods change from day to day, but are convinced he knows right from wrong. Neil Grantham was our friend and we still miss his friendly ways and regular visits. We don't like to hear of anyone being killed in a car wreck, shooting, etc., but when it is a friend, things hurt worse. We have no hesitation in urging the electric chair for any person convicted of purposely killing Sheriff Neil Grantham.

We long ago realized it is impossible to do things without our friends and neighbors finding out about it, and this weekend this came home to us. My family and I were attending some press meetings at Gulf Shores, and upon walking out of a meeting, came upon Mr. E.C. Nevin. Mr. Nevin retired last year from the Opp trade school, and has since further developed his love of history and visiting historical places. However, he and his wife were at the beach just to spend a few days with their only daughter and her husband, Congressman Richard Shelby. We were behaving unselfishly, therefore, the old master didn't have to scold us this time.

In talking with Mr. and Mrs. Nevin, naturally history will enter the conversation, and Mr. Nevin was commenting to his daughter Annette about the recent marking of the Hart family grave, in which he took part. He was highly complimentary of the county commission for their efforts in this area. He also noted that there was an Indian village site not far from the Hart family grave, and this also needs marking before it is lost to the world. We don't know the location of this Indian village itself, but encourage our county leaders and members of the historical society to investigate this bit of information and take appropriate action.

M.J. Lee is in a Dothan hospital following surgery. It appears we can't leave town without the neighborhood going to pot. We hadn't been gone from Elba but about three hours when they had come to take Mr. Lee to Dothan for emergency surgery. He came through alright apparently, but had family and friends a bit scared there for a day or so. We wish him a speedy recovery.

We watched with interest as the people of Dothan debated the pros and cons of a dog leash law recently. The matter went to a vote of the people, and 80 percent voted in favor of the new law. We heard some bitter debate about the same matter in Elba some time back and apparently we figured right when we concluded that the vast majority of the people of Elba were in favor of some control of dogs. There were some dog owners who were very mad, and even though the debate has died down following the passing and enforcement of the regulation, we feel there are some dog owners in Elba who still feel bitter about the restriction on their animals. In spite of some mad friends, we still think the leash law was the right thing for the city council to pass.

There is probably nothing more frustrating to a fisherman than to have an exciting fish story to tell and have all potential listeners busy telling fishing success stories of their own. We saw some of this Monday. It appears that just about every stump in the rivers of Northwest Florida had someone dabbling a fish hook beside it, and the fish were hungry. We didn't experience any of this, nor did we see the fish, but we were apparently the only fisherman who wasn't fishing in that area last weekend.

Operator Charged With Bad Checks

Roy G. Sims, owner and manager of Enterprise Livestock Co., a stockyard formerly operating at Enterprise Alabama has been charged with writing bad checks, failing to pay promptly, and still owing about $31,000 for livestock as of February, a U.S. Department of Agriculture official said today.

B.H. (Bill) Jones, head of USDA's Packers and Stockyards Administration, said Sims is also charged with having shortages in and failing to properly maintain the market's custodial account for proceeds belonging to livestock consignors.

All of the money owed for livestock has since been paid by proceeds from Sims' bond.

Sims has a right to a hearing on the charges which were filed by the USDA under authority of the Packers and Stockyards Act. If the charges are proven he will be placed under a cease and desist order, similar to a permanent injunction. He could also be ordered to pay a civil penalty and his registration could be suspended.

Minimum Tillage Methods In Use

Many of our farmers in Coffee County are using minimum tillage methods from chisel planting of corn to a no-till condition which limits tillage to only a small spot. Carson Brunson, Cool Springs Community, used a slightly modified no-till planter. In order to tie down some liquid fertilizer he felt he had to disc the rye stubble one time. This discing would allow him to protect the fertilizer and since the discing would be light the mulch was still left in the top 2 inches of the soil for erosion control and other residue benefits. This practice is not always advisable but there are times when a light discing is needed.

Mr. Brunson planted over thirty acres in a day using a four row no-till planter. His plans are to plant over 200 acres of soybeans immediately following wheat harvest. The combine and no-till planter will be in the same field to avoid excessive drying behind harvest of the wheat. No-till planting is not for everyone-it requires good management of weeds and good fertility. Mr. Brunson has purchased a chemical cultivator which will provide him the same opportunity of weed control as conventional cultivation. With a directed spray system, he can use inexpensive chemicals such as 2,4-D or paraquat to control grasses and weeds in the middles. No-till planting has gained in popularity in recent years and as research improves the system it is predicted that by the year 2000 over 70 percent of the crops will be planted with a minimum tillage system.

Today's Concept Of Sex

In almost every direction today whether it be a newspaper ad, a television commercial or the selling of magazines, the sex appeal seems to be necessary to sell. Last week on one of the television programs an actor made a statement that films without a nude scene were not profitable anymore. Some of those on Broadway have gone the limit in depicting the overt act between men and women as well as the full roll of homosexuals. Even the so called best magazines that just a few years ago were very selective in what they printed including pictures that are not decent for youth to view. The concept that has been projected is that of sex and sexual satisfaction being the end result in every area of life. With this concept men and women are no more than an animal and become a individual instead of an individual.

The strongest human drive within an individual is this sex drive. God so created men and women that the fulfillment of real love would join them together and the two become one living body. Sex should be the most sacred and holy emotion of a person's life with discipline and direction.

LAND

I got a close up view of agriculture in California the past few days. It's the number one state in agricultural production and income.

After traveling and seeing a lot of land between here and there, I'm convinced we have enough land to last a long time. This country has a lot of land!

The problem is getting water to the land at the right time and place. Water is the limiting factor in agricultural production. If a problem occurs, it won't be because we don't have enough land.

We need to protect our soils in Coffee County from erosion. The Wiggins area is one of the most severely eroded farming areas in the country. The slope of the land, the soil type and 55-60 inches of rainfall each year takes a big toll.

FRESNO COUNTY

Fresno County, California is the nation's number one farm county. Gross income is over $2 billion a year. Leading crops are cotton (400,000 acres), grapes, tomatoes, plums, nectarines, okra, alfalfa hay and cattle and chickens.

Fresno County farmers and businessmen know how to promote farm products. For example, the restaurants have a variety of delicious raisins included in the salad bar. The glass of water the waitress brings to your table has a slice of lemon placed on top of the water.

This is farm country here. A large restaurant manager told me and added, "Farmers come in here with their families and eat. It makes them feel good to see the products they grow being promoted."

KERN COUNTY Kern County, California, which includes Bakersfield, is a fantastic agricultural county. Last week I visited J.H. Black, the County Agent-Coordinator, there, and came away with a fuller appreciation of California agriculture. The main thing I learned is that their farming is not just fruits, nuts and melons - it's a lot more.

Kern County ranks either second or third in the nation in agricultural gross income. Fresno County is first. Tulare County sometimes comes in second in place of Kern depending on prices of cotton and other crops.

Consider this: They get 4-6 inches of rain a year. Irrigation water costs $9.00 for a foot. Average land sells for around $7,000 per acre. Nine hundred fifty thousand acres were harvested last year. Nine hundred thousand acres are irrigated.

Main crops are cotton (380,000 acres this year averaging over two bales per acre) and grapes (over 200,000 acres). They also have thousands of acres of carrots, potatoes, lettuce, and broccoli. Total agricultural income in 1982 was $1.3 billion. That's 15 times the total gross Coffee County income.

GOOD COMBINATION Bill Hambleton, County Agent-Coordinator in Fresno County, California, gave me the facts on their agriculture last week. The figures are impressive: $68 million for field crops, $44 million for seed crops, $187 million for livestock and poultry, $373 million for fruits and nuts, $374 million for livestock and poultry and $10 million for

PRODUCE MARKET

Check the Farmers Roadside Produce Market in Enterprise if you are looking for homegrown fresh vegetables. A number of producers are selling peas, butter beans, tomatoes, okra, squash, watermelons, and a number of other delicious products.

The market is located on the 84 Byway on the Corbinville Road. If you would like to get more information on this market, call the Human Resource Office in Enterprise. The number is 393-1400.

SORGHUM MIDGE

More and more grain sorghum is being grown this year in Coffee County than previous years. The sorghum is a very damaging pest. The midge eats the middle of the kernel. Females begin laying eggs soon after emergence, and each one may deposit from 50 to 250 tiny, white eggs during the 24 to 48 hours that she lives.

If you would like to learn more about checking for the sorghum midge, get in touch with us at the County Extension Office, and we will help you.

COWPEA CURCULO

Field peas are beginning to be damaged from the cowpea curculio. This is a small, black-nosed beetle that punctures the side of the pea. To feed and to lay eggs. When you shell your peas, there will be a little black spot on the side of the pea. The curculio, one of the following insecticides may be used: Dieldrin, Seven, or Methomyl. Apply at time of bloom and make three or four applications four or five days apart. Be sure to follow the directions on the package when applying insecticides.

BROWN PATCH

I have noticed a brown patch appearing in bermuda grass and zoysia lawns following this wet, rainy weather we have been having. Brown patch usually starts with a small, circular spot an inch or two and growing up to several feet in diameter. The grass turns tan in color. Sometimes a brown patch fungus just attacks the leaves, but if the conditions for growing continue, it will destroy the stems and roots.

Notice these spots appearing in your lawn. I would suggest a good fungicide. Apply it weekly making three applications a week apart for best results.

PEACH GROWERS HANDBOOK The University of Georgia has recently published The Peach Growers Handbook for use by growers in the Southeast. This publication is a comprehensive 268-page production handbook written by a number of recognized authorities throughout the South. It includes sections on all aspects of peach culture such as site selection, orchard design, variety selection, irrigation, nutrition, disease and insect control, frost protection, girdling and propagation. It contains over 100 full color illustrations and 40 black and white prints. This handbook is written in grower terminology and will make an excellent reference text for commercial producers. Books are available at $25.00 per copy. To order, send a check or money order payable to the Georgia Office, Cooperative Extension Service, Hoke Smith Building, The University of Georgia, Athens, GA, 30602.

PECAN ORCHARD CARE Weeds and brush near your pecan trees should be removed by hand or with a hoe. Use a sprayer or lay a hose at the base of the shrub and turn it on at a slow dribble. Water twice weekly during very dry periods.

Watch carefully for insect and disease problems. These could increase winter damage and mar the plant's appearance.

KEEP THE GARDEN BUSY Plan to keep all rows in your garden in production at all times. This is the best way to get the most out of your garden program.

Corn, potatoes, onions, squash and beans mature and go out of production about mid-summer. If these rows are left idle, they'll grow up in troublesome grass and weeds for next season.

Greenville Sets Second Watermelon Jubilee

The 1983 Watermelon Jubilee in Greenville will get off to a running start Aug. 13 with a 5.5 mile cross-country race.

The Watermelon Run, which begins at 7:30 a.m., also will include a one-mile cross-country course for less hardy souls. Finishers of the 5.5 mile course will receive T-shirts. Winners will receive awards, trophies and door prizes.

Director of the event is Wes Marcus. For information about race pre-registration, contact Gail Powell, 119 Shannon Hill Road, Greenville, Alabama 36037, (205) 382-6295.

Proceeds from the festival, now in its second year, go to Greenville Academy. Some 150 exhibitors from all across the southeast are expected to set up displays. New attractions will be quilting and candle wicking demonstrations and the Watermelon Jubilee Cookbook, an eight-category cookbook of recipes submitted by parents of Greenville Academy students.

Watermelons will be for sale, and prizes will be awarded for the largest watermelon and the best watermelon rind preserves entered in contests.

Greenville's Watermelon queen and her court will serve bites of watermelon to festival visitors both days.

For more information write Watermelon Jubilee Association, Route 2, Box 329-B, Greenville, Alabama 36037 or call (205) 382-5729 or call 382-3370.

Boyd Attending Young Cattlemen's Leadership Conference

Lee Boyd, Route 1, New Brockton, has been selected by the Alabama Cattlemen's Assn. to attend a Young Cattlemen's Traveling Leadership Conference, July 16-22, to be conducted by the National Cattlemen's Assn. (NCA).

The Alabama Cattlemen's Assn. along with NCA, is sponsoring Boyd's participation in the conference which is designed to assist in the development of future leaders for the beef cattle industry.

Boyd operates a cattle farm near New Brockton. Boyd will join 23 other young cattlemen from across the nation in Denver on July 16 for the beginning of a tour that will take them across the nation to San Francisco, Chicago and Washington D.C.

They'll visit such places as the Denver NCA headquarters office, Safeway Stores headquarters in Oakland, Syntex Agribusiness research headquarters in Palo Alto, the Chicago Merchandise Exchange, the animal products division of International Minerals, Corp. near Chicago, and Washington, D.C. While in the nation's capital, they'll visit the Congress, the Interior Dept., the U.S. Dept. of Agriculture and the White House. Their scheduled 2-day visit in Washington also includes an opportunity to visit their local congressmen.

During the course of the conference the young cattlemen (between ages 25-40) will be traveling with and meeting some of the top leaders of the cattle industry. The program planners also hope to expose the participants to timely problems and issues facing the industry and ways to seek solutions.

Farris Family Reunion Held 4th Of July Weekend

Decendants of J.C. and Elizabeth Farris, and their family gathered for a reunion the weekend of the 4th of July. This has been an annual affair since 1980. This year it was held again at the home of James Farris and wife Mathalyn of Basin Community. The festivities began with the members beginning to come in on July 1st and staying over to July 5th.

Saturday night we began with the traditional fish fry which was caught and fried by Mike Farris with all the trimmings. On Sunday July 3rd all the members went to church at Basin Baptist as a family. The main meal was on Sunday, several tables were set under the shade trees in the back yard but the rain had to drive the meal to be moved. There was all kinds of fresh vegetables, casseroles and country fried chicken and desserts galore. As the evening approached, it was finished with an old timey ice cream supper consisting of peach, peanut butter, vanilla and orange sherbert.

The traditional fireworks were displayed, lighting up the night with sounds and color.

Bradley, son Bernie and his wife all from Montgomery, Mr. and Mrs. Mike Farris and family Denise and Michael from Basin, Mr. and Mrs. Maury Coale from Earlytown, Max Farris and his fiancée Ann Horton of Enterprise, Scotty Horton also of Enterprise, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Farris, and son Mark with his fiancée Candy Wright from Many, LA,

Those attending were Mr. and Mrs. Noel Alloway from Dunedin, FL, three of their sons also attended, Mr. Bryan Alloway, of Dothan, Mr. Wayne Alloway from Jonesboro, GA, Mr. and Mrs. Kevin Alloway and children, Angela and Andy from Easley, South Carolina, Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Farris and Family Vonda and

Mr. and Mrs. L.A. Farris of Basin, Mr. and Mrs. Maxwell Nelson of Dothan, Rev. and Mrs. Don Johnson and son Brian, and Miahell Moore, all of Basin, and the host and hostess.

A custom which began several years ago was repeated. The group listen to members of each family reminiscing over thing that had happened within the family past and present blending the four generations. Several photo albums were brought of wedding and births that had happen since the last reunion.

As time came to start to leave all was looking forward to next year with anticipation.

Erosion Study

Reveals Startling Results

The worlds population is increasing by leaps and bounds. U.S. Agriculture is helping feed these populations. Below are some interesting facts:

In the last 60 seconds 1. 164 people have been born. 2. 33 of these, or 1/5 of them will be fed by the U.S. 3. World demand for agricultural products have increased by: 1240 bushels of corn 690 bushels of wheat 690 bushels of rice 200 bushels of soybeans 6 steers 23 hogs 765 chickens 1150 pounds of cotton 490 pounds of lamb

Increased demand has increased erosion problems as marginal land is taken into row crop land. Losses in productivity can be altered only for a short time by increased fertilizer use. Overall fertilizer use has increased from 14 million tons in 1950 to 119 million tons in 1982. This is mainly attributed to soil erosion and the loss of soil fertility.

Alabama loses an average of 13 tons of topsoil per acre per year through wind and water erosion while nature creates on the average of 1.5 tons/ac./yr. through chemical and physical weathering. A current cooperative erosion crop productivity study by the Alabama Agricultural Station and the Soil Conservation Service is providing an insight into the extent of productivity loss from erosion. These studies have shown that on soils in the Wiregrass a yield loss of 11 bushels of corn and 9.5 bushels of soybeans can be expected for each line of soil surface.

For further information on this study and ways that you can prevent soil erosion on your property contact your local Soil Conservation Service Office in New Brockton at 894-6332.

Field Force Honors Brunson

The month of June was dedicated to Mr. J.R. Brunson honoring his birthday. To honor the qualifiers, a banquet was scheduled at Fort Rucker's Officers' Club where awards were presented and a very tasty meal was served.

Qualifiers throughout the State as far north as Muscle Shoals and as far south as Mobile attended.

A tour of the Home Office prior to departing Fort Rucker was on the agenda. On hand to greet the out-of-towners were President J.R. Brunson, Vice President Marvin Robbins and Assistant Vice President W.R. Thompson, Jr.

Mayor Bob English welcomed the group to Elba. A pleasant evening was enjoyed by all.

Easter Seal Promotes "Buckle Up Your Kids"

Joshua Shearon, Alabama's 1983 Easter Seal Child, recently met with Governor Wallace and presented him with a "Buckle Up Your Kids" bumper sticker.

Joshua, who is the son of Mr. and Mrs. William R. Shearon of Prattville, is representing the Easter Seal Society and the Alabama Department of Public Safety in an effort to encourage all people to buckle their safety belts and put their children in child safety seats.

According to National Safety Council statistics, every year an estimated 1.8 million motor vehicle occupants are injured and more than 50,000 are killed in motor vehicle crashes.

The Safety Education Office of the Alabama Department of Public Safety will be distributing bumper stickers to various civic clubs throughout the state, as presentations are made stressing the need to buckle up.

"Car crashes are the leading cause of death and disabling injury of young children," said Captain John Henderson of the Alabama Department of Public Safety.

"If more people know how effective child restraints are in protecting their children, we are certain more children would be buckled up," Captain Henderson continued. "A crash-tested safety designed car seat can reduce the probability of death by more than 70%."

For more information concerning the use of safety belts and child restraints, contact the Alabama Department of Public Safety or the Alabama Easter Seal Society, P.O. Box 6130, Montgomery 36194-0001.

Too Much Sun Is Harmful

For many people, basking in the sun is one of summer's greatest pastimes. But in their haste to grab a beach towel and soak up the rays, many fail to realize that sun exposure ultimately does more harm than good.

The effect of repeated seasons in the sun can set the stage for skin cancer, the most common of all cancers. More than 300,000 new cases of skin cancer are reported annually, most developing in parts of the body directly exposed to the sun. Fortunately, skin cancer is one of the most curable forms of this disease.

Though no one is immune from skin cancer, some people are at a greater risk than others. Fair-skinned people, notable redheads and blonds, are the most susceptible. They lack sufficient amounts of melanin, the pigment substance that filters out the sun's rays. Outdoor workers or people who live and work in sunny regions of the U.S. also are at high risk.

Skin cancer is not the only form of skin damage that can occur from constant sun exposure. Skin can develop a tough, leathery look and become etched with wrinkles as part of premature aging process. Dark patches called keratoses, which are often pre-cancerous, can form as a result of loss of skin elasticity. Since the sun is such an obvious culprit, it is there any way sun worshippers can save their skin's health while taking in the rays? Dermatologists and skin cancer specialists agree that everyone can find and keep a place in the summer sun, providing they exercise precautions. A relatively easy way to sun-proof your skin is to cover it with clothing. Cool, long-sleeved shirts can do the job, as can hats and sunglasses. It also helps to take the sun in moderation. Try to avoid sunbathing between 10 a.m. and 3 p.m., when ultraviolet rays are at their strongest. If you must bask during these hours, stay out a maximum of 15 minutes to be safe.

Though the body offers a natural protection from the sun's rays by producing a "healthy" appearing tan, added protection in the form of cover-ups is necessary. The best cover-up is a chemical one—a sunscreen that contains PABA (para-aminobenzoic acid). These preparations absorb ultraviolet B rays, which pose the greatest risk of sunburn and cancer.

Most sunscreen products carry a number from one to 15 (the sun protection factor) on their labels. The higher the number, the more sun protection delivered by the preparation. Consumers should base their choice on complexion and sun habits. Fair-skinned individuals, for instance, are advised to use high numbered sunscreens.

Sunscreens should always be worn when going out in the summer sun (no matter how short a time). They work best when applied an hour before exposure, and reapplied after perspiring or swimming. Even when skies are overcast, sunscreen should be used to avoid burning, since ultraviolet rays can penetrate clouds.

Another cover-up, the sunblock, allows for no tanning at all. The opaque coating of zinc oxide is useful for shielding lips, nose and other extra-sensitive parts.

To learn about other ways to keep your skin cool and healthy, ask for a free pamphlet "Sense In The Sun," from your local American Cancer Society.

Coffee General Hospital To Become Humana

Coffee General Hospital will soon become Humana Hospital Enterprise and the Enterprise Medical Clinic building will be renamed the E.L. Gibson Professional Building.

It all happens on Sunday, August 28th, Wendell Briggs, Coffee General Hospital Executive Director, announced today.

The public is invited to attend the formal name-change ceremony which will be held at 2:00 p.m., then tour the newly refurbished hospital during an open house form 2:30 until 5:00 p.m.

"The decision to place the Humana name on our hospital is a clear indication that Humana stands behind the quality hospital care that we provide to physicians and their patients," Briggs explained.

Humana Inc., a Louisville-based hospital management company, has provided the vital financial resources and management skills to help Humana Hospital Enterprise keep pace with the rapidly changing health care needs of the area.

Huge investments have been made during the past few months in new construction and new medical equipment. The latest improvement is the $130,000, refur-bishing project which includes new furniture in the lobby and waiting rooms, new wallpaper, and new carpet in patient rooms and hallways.

"We want to use this special occasion to also honor the late Dr. E.L. Gibson," Briggs emphasized. "His name is synonymous with the hospital and the medical profession in southeast Alabama. We will rename the clinic building to perpetuate the memory of a great person and an outstanding member of the medical profession."

The name-change ceremony will take place in the parking area between the hospital and the clinic building beginning at 2 p.m. Members of local and state governments are expected to attend along with other dignitaries. Fred Donaldson will serve as Master of Ceremonies.

During the open house that follows, refreshments will be served to the public. Balloons and ice cream will be available for visiting children and souvenirs will be given to all visitors.

The hospital also prepared to give free blood pressure and pulmonary function checks to anyone who might not have had an opportunity to visit the recent Health Fair '83. We'll also provide tours of the hospital for our visitors," Briggs continued.

"The new name for our hospital comes at a most appropriate time," the Executive Director added. "We're proud of the improvements we've made to the hospital and our renewed commitment to the people of Enterprise and southeast Alabama."

Humana Hospital Enterprise, as it will be officially named on August 28th, is one of 89 hospitals in 23 states and three foreign countries owned by Humana Inc. The hospital is operated at no expense to the taxpayers and contributes significantly to the local economy.

This year alone, Humana Hospital Enterprise will pay more than $60,110 in fees and taxes plus $3,729,876 in salaries and benefits for 247 employees who reside in the local area.

Bill Shaw, investigator for the Covington County Sheriff's Department, and Coffee County Sheriff Brice Paul look at fingerprints on window of getaway car.

Car Involved In Kinston Bank Robbery Found Near Florala

A car believed to be the one used as a "getaway car" in last week's bank robbery in Kinston was discovered Friday in a wooded area near Florala, and law enforcement officials expect the car to reveal valuable leads in the investigation of the robbery.

According to a spokesman for the Coffee County Sheriff's Department, a 1982 Buick Regal was found on a trail, off a dirt road, in Jackson's Entry, near Florala, on Friday, July 5, at 5:00 p.m. The youngsters who found the vehicle notified the Florala Police Department.

who went to the scene and discovered the car matched the description of the one used in the Kinston robbery. The Covington County Sheriff's Department was called in and the Covington County authorities notified the Coffee County Sheriff's Department at approximately 6:30.

Fingerprints were taken and the vehicle processed at the scene and then taken to the Enterprise Crime Lab. It was reported very few prints or other evidence were found on the car.

The car had a stolen South Carolina tag registered to a 1970 Ford, leading officials to believe the vehicle was stolen in South Carolina and driven south for use in the robbery. This theory was short-lived, however, as it was discovered the car was reported stolen by Crown Buick in New Orleans, Louisiana, on Friday, July 15, five days prior to the robbery.

The investigation by the Alabama Bureau of Investigation, Federal Bureau of Investigation and local authorities is still underway.

Commission Holds Hot Meeting

The Coffee County Commission met in regular session Monday, July 25, in a small air-conditioned room with no lights, and held a brief and rather uneventful meeting.

The bi-monthly meeting was scheduled to be held in the upstairs courtroom at the Elba courthouse; however, the courtroom was also set for use in jury selection, prompting the commission to move downstairs. The old tax collector's office was used for the meeting, but the air conditioner didn't work and the lights went out, resulting in a warm, dark room and a short meeting.

All members were present at the meeting, including commission chairman Marion Brunson, clerk Brunace Winston and commissioners Glimmer Grant, Rex Boutwell, Billy Eagerton, Charlie Mack Martin, Eugene Bradley and Marvin Bowden.

After the routine adoption of minutes, County Engineer Frank Charlton read a prepared statement concerning a July 17, 1983, editorial that appeared in an Enterprise newspaper.

"This is to clarify some points contained in an editorial published by The Enterprise Ledger on Sunday, July 17, 1983," Charlton said, "which told a story, but not the whole story."

In the statement, the engineer explained the existence, and makeup, of work areas in the county and reported that work areas were divided to give each area an equal amount of dirt roads.

"The purpose of the work area concept," according to Charlton, "was to provide more economical and efficient maintenance of all our roads. The single criterion was that the total miles of dirt roads in all work areas be as nearly equal as possible."

In a non-related matter, the engineer stated the low bid on paving Sparks Street was $246,854 from Wiregrass Construction. The bid was approximately $100,000 less than expected, and Charlton reported the remaining funds will be used in the project at Turner's Crossroads.

In other business at Monday's meeting the commission:

look no action toward purchasing a slide projector;

Commissioners Billy Eagerton and Glimmer Grant discuss county business at Monday's meeting.

was told a highway department employee was killed in a weekend car wreck;

received copies of work done in all work areas;

heard Engineer Charlton state the shop personnel "are doing a good job in keeping equipment working";

was told the Donaldson Road was getting shoulders and slopes ready to grass;

stated it would nominate three county residents to serve on the Board of Equalization;

appointed Commissioners Eagerton, Grant, and Judge Brunson to work on the county's 1984 budget;

The next commission meeting will be held Monday, August 8, at 9:00 a.m. in Elba.

Pasquales Burglarized

Pasquales, a popular restaurant in Elba, was burglarized last week with an undisclosed amount of cash stolen. The burglary occurred during the early morning hours of Friday, July 22, and the burglars emptied the cash register and took a money box.

The case is under investigation by the Elba Police Department.

In a non-related incident, burglars broke into a storage building at the Windham Lumber Company on Sunday, July 24, and stole a seven-inch sander and a battery charger.

Magwood Granted Stay By Federal Court Judge

Billy Joe Magwood, convicted of murder in the 1979 shooting death of Coffee County Sheriff Neil Grantham, was granted a stay of execution last Wednesday afternoon by a federal court judge only hours before he was scheduled to die in Alabama's electric chair.

The stay, signed by U.S. District Judge Truman Hobbs, stopped the execution pending a federal court review of Magwood's case. The review could take several months and additional federal appeals are expected.

Magwood, age 30, was scheduled to die in the electric chair at 12:01 a.m. on Friday, July 22; however, the convicted killer's lawyer, J.L. Chestnut Jr. of Selma, filed the legal papers approximately midday Wednesday with Judge Hobbs, as well as the Alabama Court of Criminal Appeals.

According to reports, word from Hobbs reached Magwood at 2:30 p.m. Wednesday, several hours after Magwood had been moved to a cell adjacent to the electric chair at Holman Prison near Atmore.

Prison system spokesman Ron Tate stated Holman officers reported that Magwood had been unemotional throughout the week but "broke down and cried at least half an hour" after being moved to the cell next to the chair. According to Tate, Magwood had no appetite for lunch, but showed little emotion when told of Hobbs' decision to grant the stay.

Tate reported Magwood's only response was "okay."

The prison spokesman said that prison commissioner Freddie Smith had been informed by Hobbs of the impending stay.

The Magwood defense claims the convicted killer was insane at the time he killed Sheriff Grantham; however, the claim was denied by a jury and the sentence was upheld in an appeal to Circuit Court.

Chestnut stated last week he wanted the stay in order for the Alabama Court of Criminal Appeals to review a July 18 ruling by Circuit Judge Riley Green.

Bid Of $246,854 Accepted For Paving On Sparks Street

A total of 34 projects in 30 counties, for which contractors offered $18.2 million in apparent low bids, was awarded last week by the Alabama Highway Department, and included in the projects was one in Coffee County.

The Coffee County project involves construction of the base and bituminous treatments on Sparks Street from Alabama 122 in New Brockton north.

The work, which covers 3,734 miles, will be completed in 60 working days. Low bidder on the project was Wiregrass Construction Company, Inc., with a bid of $246,854.

Other area projects include: Covington County - construction of the bridge culvert and approaches at Richland Creek on Alabama #54 east of Florala near Howell's, with the low bid of $97,417 from H & L Construction Company; Crenshaw County - widening and resurfacing on U.S. #29 near Seagriff to the west city limits of Brantley, with a low bid of $506,050.20 from Wiregrass Construction Company, Inc.; and Pike County - construction of bridge replacement and approaches on Alabama #130 east of Shiloh, with a low bid of $165,500.48 from W.S. Newell, Inc.

Replacing Police Cars Is Topic At City Council Meeting

Replacing police cars was the main topic of discussion at the Elba City Council meeting Monday evening.

The council talked with Police Chief John White about the high mileage and mounting repair bills on the present police cars. White told the city officials that one car had 162,000 miles, and that all of them had over 100,000 miles.

The idea of buying used cars for patrolling was discussed and the majority of the council members seemed to favor this move if good cars with relatively low mileage could be purchased at reasonable prices.

Councilman John Sharpless noted that he opposed buying used cars in the past and still doubted the economy of the action.

Chief White was instructed to look into the matter and report back to the council prior to the finalization of the budget for the next fiscal year. Mayor Bob English indicated that something must be done early in the next fiscal year.

The council approved a resolution allowing English to borrow money to pay for the tractor and mower recently purchased for the recreation department. English indicated repayment over the next 36 months will cost about $400 per month.

An agreement was approved by the council that would okay the purchase of some customers from Covington Co-op. It will only be enacted when and if a bill is passed in the Alabama legislature establishing permanent territorial lines for various utilities. The proposal is to save the cost of duplicating lines in many areas. It has the backing of the co-ops and Alabama Power Company. English noted it had a slim chance of passing in the current session, but could pass in a special session or in the next regular session.

English noted that Elba was unique from other towns in that the co-op has sub-stations and a major transmission line within the city limits. The agreement expands on the statewide bill and allows Elba to purchase some customers while allowing the Covington Co-op to keep some near their main lines.

The council agreed to co-host a meeting of the Second District Municipal Association in Troy on August 18. English said it would only cost Elba $150 to $200 since it is a dutch treat affair. English also informed the council that the state had requested a nomination for a member of the Board of Equalization.

Mr. and Mrs. Roger Mills appeared before the council and requested the one-block section of the street beside their home in New Town be paved, or at least graded. They said the dust was terrible. The council took no action and English informed the couple that he had instructed the street superintendent to survey the street and make a recommendation.

English also reported that a city employee had received a back injury picking up a 55-gallon trash barrel, and city ordinances required all garbage and trash be in containers no larger than 30 gallons. He said he has instructed the street department to again enforce this regulation and to inform those using the larger size that they will no longer be picked up. Mayor English explained that workman's comp payments would cost the city thousands of dollars, just for this one injury.

REFLECTORS TO MARK HYDRANTS . . . Elba Mayor Bob English places a blue reflector in the road in front of a fire hydrant. The reflectors, purchased by the City of Elba and the Elba Jaycees, will be placed in streets across town to aid firemen in finding the hydrants at night. Approximately 700 reflectors will be put down in the city. Also in the picture are Fire Chief Charles Cox and David Bandstra.
